Metric System of Measurements Draws Near

The Senate Commerce Committee last week approved legislation to convert the U.S. system of measurements from feet and pounds to the metric method, and it is likely the Senate will vote on the measure right after Labor Day.

The metric system is a decimal method like our currency. The dollar is divided decimally, thus 100 cents make a dollar. The base unit in metric is the meter, a little over a yard. For long measurements this is expanded to the kilometer (1,000 meters). For fine measuring you use the centimeter (1/100th of a meter); and for extremely fine measuring, the millimeter (1/1,000th of a meter).

This is old stuff for chemists, optical experts, and darkroom photographers because the metric system is in universal use in science.

If it sounds confusing to you, here's a quick way to convert miles into kilometers:

A kilometer is approximately five-eighths of a mile. Little Rock, we will say, is 120 miles from Hope. How far in kilometers? Multiply 120 by 5 and divide by 8. The answer: 120 miles is 192 kilometers.

Or, looking at an American speedometer, 50 miles an hour would read in the metric system 80 kilometers. It's that simple.

In liquid measurements the base metric unit is the liter, approximately one quart. This is multiplied or divided on the decimal system—just as in the rest of the metric method.

You will find metrics explained in detail in the World Almanac, available at any newsstand.

Why all this bother and confusion when we have gotten along all these years with our English system of pounds and feet? Because even the English from whom we got our present system of measurements are now converting to the metric plan—leaving the United States as the only major government using pounds and feet.

Lack of specifications stated in metric terms is beginning to hurt our exporters and so the time has come when we must conform to the system used by all the rest of the world. Our technical people have been using metric for a century. The rest of our population will find it relatively easy to make the switch.

There's an oddity in all this. We borrowed the pound and foot from England but not their crazy system of calling money shillings and pence. The U.S. geared its currency to the decimal dollar. Now England is dropping both its original measurement and its currency standards and is switching to the metric measurement and decimal dollar.

So we've been half-right from the Year One—and adopting metrics will put us in step with the rest of the world.

Entire state in commission

WASHINGTON (AP) — The entire state of Arkansas will be included within the boundaries of the Ozarks Regional Commission, the office of Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., said today.

McClellan said he had been informed by Commerce Secretary Peter Peterson that the boundary modification had been made, effective today.

McGovern sets 90-day limit

'Freeze' end is pledged

By LEE BYRD

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Sen. George McGovern, claiming greater confidence than ever that he can beat President Nixon, has pledged to end wage-price controls within 90 days after taking office.

With little advance fanfare, the Democratic nominee declared he would order a return to a free market upon ending the Vietnam war and reducing military spending.

In comments to a group of Illinois labor leaders Tuesday night, McGovern said: "When the war is ended and waste is stopped, we can end wage and price controls, and I think that can be done within 90 days of the inauguration. And I'm committed to that goal."

McGovern's economic pledge capped a day of campaigning Tuesday in Ohio and Illinois in which he asserted that Nixon himself was at least indirectly involved in an attempt to spy on Democratic National Committee headquarters in Washington.

McGovern planned to court the farm vote today after reaping a new round of labor endorsements Tuesday.

As he addressed a cheering group of United Auto Workers near General Motors' Lordstown, Ohio, plant the 1.4-million-member union announced it had voted overwhelmingly to endorse the South Dakotan.

At the same time, the International Ladies Garment Workers, with 450,000 members, tendered its support by way of a unanimous executive-board decision.

On the minus side, the 380,000-member Indiana AFL-CIO declared it would follow the lead of national federation President George Meany and remain neutral.

And McGovern's much-awaited meeting with Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley, whom McGovern forces helped oust from the Democratic National Convention last month, was called off for another week. The senator said Daley had called him at Lordstown to ask a postponement for "urgent personal reasons."

McGovern's revised schedule called for a visit to a small family farm near Springfield today, then an address to perhaps more than 15,000 persons at the Illinois State Fair, followed by a conference with state party and Farmers Union leaders.

McGovern said after his earlier appearances in Ohio, including a traffic-stopping hand-shaking tour of Youngstown, that he was "considerably more confident that I can win this election than I was that I would win the nomination in the first place."

The candidate also unveiled his strongest line to date on the June 17 incident in which five men, some with financial and professional ties to Nixon's re-election committee, were arrested inside Democratic headquarters in Washington.

Rescue Unit holds session at Perrytown

Hempstead County Rescue Unit will hold a session on "Extraction of Injured People from Automobile Wrecks" Thursday, August 17, at 7:30 p.m. at Perrytown across from restaurant. Public is urged to attend.

Parker resigns, Stuart is new Demo chairman

By GEORGE SMITH
Star Managing Editor

Donal Parker of Hope, chairman of the Hempstead County Democratic Central Committee, resigned Tuesday night at a meeting of the committee. Crit Stuart Jr., also of Hope, was elected to fill the post.

In the brief 20-minute meeting, the committee also approved a list of delegates and alternates to the state Democratic Biennial Convention Sept. 8-9, and adopted a resolution commending Parker and "deploring the unwarranted attacks made upon (him) by slanderous and libelous groups..." and pledged support for Stuart.

The "attacks" mentioned in a resolution passed by the committee refer to complaints which led to an investigation by Pros. Atty. Dub Arnold of Arkadelphia into alleged election irregularities.

In a report filed after the investigation, Arnold concluded that Parker entered the absentee box after the May 30 Democratic preferential primary to check the results of a committeeman's race. However, Arnold said there was no criminal intent in Parker's actions, and said the case was closed. Parker repeatedly denied entering the box.

The meeting was interrupted several times by W. E. Tarpley of the Spring Hill community, who defeated incumbent Garland Kidd by a single vote for a committeeman's post in the May 30 primary.

A transcribed tape recording of the meeting reads as follows:

TARPLEY — Mr. Chairman. Is the meeting in order? Has the meeting been called to order?

PARKER — Why yes, Tarpley.

TARPLEY — Since I'm a duly elected member of this committee...

PARKER — No, you don't take office until Jan. 1. I think you better check with Joe Purcell, the state chairman.

TARPLEY — Mr. Chairman, you got a ruling from the attorney general's office on it...

PARKER — That's right. He said Jan. 1 and so did Joe Purcell.

TARPLEY — What about June 19?

PARKER — What about June 19?

TARPLEY — He said June 19 at the Democratic Convention I took office.

PARKER — Who did?

TARPLEY — You said the attorney general and also the state Democratic chairman.

PARKER — They said you took office Jan. 1 just like everybody else does. I told you this over the phone.

TARPLEY — June 19.

PARKER — No, you're wrong, Tarpley.

Man climbs bridge, shoots at crowd

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A young man with a pistol climbed atop the superstructure of the Memphis-Arkansas Bridge early today and authorities said he fired on at least two persons before surrendering 3½ hours later. No one was injured.

Police identified him as Talton Lang of Olive Branch, Miss. He was taken in a police cruiser to John Gaston Hospital after taking 10 minutes to climb down a side beam of the bridge.

The incident apparently resulted from personal problems, police said.

The man will not be charged, police said, pending psychiatric tests. They did not elaborate.

A woman, identified by police as the man's wife, coaxed Lang down. Acquaintances of the man, however, said he had been divorced recently.

"You've got a lot to live for. You've got two kids at home," she told him by a bullhorn as he listened from the highest point of the bridge.

Traffic across the Mississippi River had been halted for all but about 10 minutes of the incident, creating a bottleneck since the bridge — Interstate 55 — is the only direct highway route from Memphis to Arkansas across the river.

Head of school beaten

Two Blevins residents were charged with assault and battery following the alleged beating of Blevins School Superintendent Curtis Farr at a school bus drivers' meeting Tuesday night, according to the Hempstead County sheriff's office.

Farr was admitted to the Hempstead County Hospital with multiple contusions and lacerations around the face, according to a hospital spokesman.

Weldon Fulton and his son-in-law, Larry Huggs, were charged with assault and battery in connection with the incident. Both men have been released on $500 bond.

The incident is still under investigation, a spokesman for the sheriff's office said.

Jackson named to committee

W.Y. Jackson of Patmos has been chosen to serve as a member of the Hempstead County Farmers Home Administration Committee, FHA County Supervisor Theodore Eldridge has announced.

Jackson succeeds W. J. Schooley, whose three-year term expired June 30. The other two members of the three-man committee are Mrs. Gladys Williams of Washington, and Harry Ray McMahan of Hope.

Jackson is a farmer, operating a dairy farm with one broiler house for 14 years. He presently has a beef cattle herd and operates a chicken litter business with his two sons, Barry and Richard.

He has served on the ASCS Community Committee for three terms during the last 10 years and has been a member of Hempstead County Farmers Association for five years. Mr. and Mrs. Jackson are members of Hinton Methodist Church at Patmos, Arkansas.

Eldridge says Jackson's practical experience in coping with rural problems will enable him to make a real contribution to the county committee.

Blaylock visits here on campaign swing for GOP

Republican gubernatorial hopeful Len Blaylock met with local supporters at a luncheon here Tuesday and made a hand-shaking tour of downtown Hope.

At a luncheon meeting at the Diamond Cafe, Blaylock outlined his campaign plans for about 20 supporters and said he might "come out for repeal of the last tax increase in Arkansas."

Blaylock charged that Gov. Dale Bumpers increased taxes in the state then "brags that we have surplus money. The surplus is almost dollar for dollar what the tax increase produced." He said that if he was elected and requested a tax repeal, "we would see that some tax reform measures were built in."

Blaylock also accused Bumpers of "losing touch with the people of Arkansas, especially the youth." He said after Bumpers was elected, he abolished the state Youth Council after he campaigned talking up youth.

He also said Bumpers' promise to aid the health industry in Arkansas was "just that a promise."

"Nothing has been done to stay the exodus of doctors in rural areas. A case in point in the governor's home county (Franklin) where two years ago there were four doctors, and now there is only one."

Blaylock said that a comprehensive home health service is needed in Arkansas. "I believe we can establish Satellite medical care throughout the state, putting nurses in towns where no doctors exist."

Blaylock told the Star that "practical ideas are needed in government. Practical ideas can cut down on cost sometimes."

"Although our present governor campaigned for office using a crash highway program as a crutch, today, two years later, there is no highway program," Blaylock charged. He said that Bumpers vetoed a highway construction program passed with only one opposing vote by the legislature and now that the governor advocates a toll road system. Blaylock said he was opposed to toll roads in Arkansas, because "it serves as a way through an area and not to it, and damages the ecology by gaining new rights-of-way."

At the end of the interview, Blaylock promised "There will be some farmers in the governor's office if I'm elected. There will be some real people, people you can talk to."

Meeting the voters

Len Blaylock, Republican candidate for governor, was on a hand-shaking tour of Hope Tuesday, and one of the hands he shook belonged to Mrs. Jo Carolyn Bruce of Hope.

Parker resigns - -

TARPLEY — Until we get another ruling from the attorney general's office, I'm going to act in the capacity of a committee member. Now, you told me that over the phone...

PARKER — I told you you took office Jan. 1.

TARPLEY — And you gave me the name of the person you talked to there.

PARKER — Well, did you talk to him?

TARPLEY — No, I took your word for it. I didn't talk to him.

PARKER — You can take my word for it. He said Jan. 1 and so did Joe Purcell, the state chairman.

TARPLEY — You're still trying to count me out, aren't you?

PARKER — No, all you have to do is sit down. You're here, aren't you?

TARPLEY — Do you recognize me as a member of this committee?

PARKER — Uh, uh. Not till Jan. 1.

TARPLEY — I'm a duly elected bona fide member of this committee as of June 19 and I request that you instruct the recording secretary to enter my name on that role. (Silence) That's my request.

PARKER — Well, your request is denied.

E. C. "Bud" White, committee secretary, then called the roll, and then Parker told the group that "committee members will be paid for this meeting. We've got a pretty good bank balance now."

He said the committee could decide whether to run a page ad supporting all Democratic candidates before the general election.

Parker also announced he had completed the committee's financial statement and as "soon as I get it typed out, I'll file it with Bud (White, committee secretary)."

After discussing the upcoming state convention, Parker read a list of proposed delegates and alternates to the convention, which was quickly approved. Members and alternates are as follows:

Mack McLarty, Larry Patterson, Will Rutherford, F. C. Crow, Dorsey McRae, Ray Lawrence, Finis Odom, Henry Sinyard, Harry Hawthorne, Carter Sutton, Mrs. Pat House, Ida K. Stuart, Jim Cole, Crit Stuart Jr., Monroe Stuart, John R. Graves, Maxine Stewart, Mitchell LaGrone, John B. Gardner, Sloman Goodlet, Talbot Field Jr., W. C. Bruner Jr., George Frazier, and W. E. Tarpley.

Parker then read the following letter addressed to White: "Dear Sir: Effective immediately, I am resigning as chairman of the Hempstead County Central Committee. Yours truly, Donal Parker."

WHITE — Nominations are now open for a chairman.

BARRY BROWN, committeeman — Mr. Chairman, I'd like to nominate Mr.

Crit Stuart Jr.

VOICE: I second it.

TARPLEY — Mr. Chairman, I'd like to talk for a minute. This committee can't function properly if divided. There is some dissension in this committee as well as out in the precincts...

PARKER — Tarpley, you're out of order.

TARPLEY — I'd like to ask Mr. Brown to withdraw his nomination and appoint three men to conduct and interview people who are qualified to take this committee chairmanship job...

BROWN — Mr. Tarpley, I won't withdraw my nomination because I think the man is well qualified and I think the committee should vote on it.

BUDDY McIVER (committeeman) — I have a motion I want to make. Mr. Chairman, I make a motion we elect Mr. Stuart by acclamation.

WHITE — All in favor of electing Mr. Stuart, say aye. (Scattered and faint "ayes.") TARPLEY — Mr. Chairman, rules of parliamentary procedure require that electing officers you do it by secret ballot.

WHITE — That'd be fine. Why don't we just take a secret ballot?

PARKER — No, Mr. Tarpley is not a delegate, I mean he is not a committeeman...

TARPLEY — I am a committeeman according to your word or you lied to me.

PARKER — No, I didn't lie to you. Now, I told you...Jan. 1.

TARPLEY — You told me June 19, according to the attorney general's office...

PARKER — No, I didn't. No, I didn't. (Silence.) All right, Mr. Stuart has been elected.

WHITE — Barry (Brown), we have a resolution here we would like you to read and see if the committee will adopt it. Stand up and read it for us.

BROWN — Be it resolved by the Hempstead County Democratic Committee of Hempstead County, Arkansas, duly assembled, that this committee accepts the resignation of the honorable Donal Parker as chairman with deep regret. We deplore the unwarranted attack made upon Mr. Parker by slanderous and libelous groups and hereby express our confidence and respect for Mr. Parker.

He has been a faithful and competent executive officer of this committee. While we regret the resignation of Mr. Parker we understand his reason for doing so and extend him the thanks and best wishes of this committee.

We extend to our new chairman, Mr. Crit Stuart Jr., our pledge of full cooperation as he assumes his important post. Adopted Aug. 15, 1972. (Brown also said copies would be sent to the press and radio and that Parker would receive a "true copy" of the resolution.)

Sen. Fulbright orders inquiry

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J.W. Fulbright has ordered an inquiry into Sen. Henry M. Jackson's allegation that the Russians "lied to President Nixon" in the final SALT negotiations in Moscow.

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said Tuesday he has directed the committee staff to question the Central Intelligence Agency about the report.

He asked Nixon for an explanation or denial.

Jackson, D-Wash., injected the allegation into the debate over the U.S.-Soviet interim agreement on offensive weapons and his amendment urging the United States to seek "equality" with the Soviet Union in any future permanent agreement.

Hope vanished for Senate action this week when Jackson and his opponents failed to agree on the time for a vote after a lengthy session with Senate leaders Tuesday.

But the House was scheduled to vote today on a resolution approving the agreement without amendment.

Jackson said the Russians told Nixon at the summit meeting in May that they had 48 Y-class nuclear submarines deployed or under construction.

"We now know they had only 42," Jackson told newsmen. He said his information came from intelligence sources he declined to identify.

He said that Russian overstatement of submarine strength at the summit meeting could have affected the terms of the interim agreement which limits Russia to 62 submarines and the United States to 44.

Chess game is draw

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) — Bobby Fischer was only four points away from the world chess championship today after a draw in the 14th game with defending champion Boris Spassky.

Fischer led the match 3½-3½ after blunders by both players produced the draw Tuesday in a four-hour game of 40 moves.

The American challenger and the Russian met again Thursday in their 15th game.

Then Spassky will be playing the white chessmen, giving him the advantage of the first move, but his chances of overtaking Fischer appear slimmer by the minute. The Yugoslav grandmaster, Svetozar Gligoric, said at the end of Tuesday's game: "Fischer is simply the better player."

With a win counting one point and a draw half, Fischer needs a total of 12½ to unseat Spassky. To keep his title, the Russian needs 12 points.

Dissent voices heard

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A few voices of dissent today jarred generally placid hearings of the Republican Platform Committee as GOP liberals called for an unqualified pullout from Vietnam, busing to aid desegregation and the legalized use of marijuana.

The proposals were offered by Sen. Jacob K. Javits of New York and supported by a handful of other witnesses. The 108-member committee seemed certain to spurn them in drafting a platform to the liking of President Nixon for next week's GOP convention.

The voices of 75 prominent Republican women, including U.N. delegate Shirley Temple Black, also were heard. They issued a statement late Tuesday demanding "more positions for women at every level of our party" and a strong women's rights plank.

Javits told platform drafters he would not offer a formal Southeast Asia plank, "knowing well the position of the President on Vietnam," but he declared:

"I believe the time has come to terminate completely our active commitment to this war and to end all U.S. participation in it. It is time that the South Vietnamese carried on the war themselves and that we withdraw without qualifications."

Javits urged the platform writers to "support the efforts of the courts to eliminate de jure (legally prescribed) segregation of the schools, including where necessary and reasonable, the remedy of busing."

GOP officials to be 'bugged' about bugging

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Democratic party chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien says he can prove that party officials actually were bugged, and his lawyer intends to question seven top Republicans about it.

O'Brien, who was chairman at the time of a break-in at Democratic National Committee headquarters, told a news conference Tuesday he has new evidence to prove that eavesdropping devices actually were installed for a time.

Meanwhile, Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern accused President Nixon of at least indirect responsibility for the incident.

"What is to prevent an administration that cooperates with that kind of thing from wiretapping your house, or your union hall, or something else they want to get?" McGovern told a labor rally in Lordstown, Ohio.

The White House declined comment on McGovern's statement. One of those arrested was James W. McCord, security chief for the Nixon campaign committee.

Bugging devices were confiscated at the time of the arrest.

WOMAN JUMPS FROM MISSISSIPPI BRIDGE

WEST MEMPHIS, Ark. (AP) — A woman jumped from the bridge across the Mississippi River here Tuesday evening, but struck a protruding object and fell about 15 feet onto a ledge, State Police reported.

State Troopers Charles Suiter and Jerry McLaughlin climbed down and carried the unconscious woman up.

She was taken to a Memphis hospital and was believed to be in good condition.

According to identification in her purse, she was Mrs. Tanya Aylor, 31, of Memphis.

Shriver claiming success

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Sargent Shriver, sandwiching visits with Mexican-Americans between fence mending sessions with political contributors, is claiming success in persuading two of California's biggest money raisers to back the McGovern-Shriver Democratic campaign.

One of the two, Los Angeles lawyer Eugene Wyman, a longtime supporter of Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, told newsmen he would do all he could for the ticket. But he implied that money was harder to get this year than in previous campaigns.

He said, though, he would work to help Shriver contact potential contributors. "I offered my full cooperation," he said.

Paul Ziffren, a heavy financial supporter of Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, said he offered to help Shriver raise money. But like Wyman, he did not comment on his own personal contributions.

The vice presidential candidate told rich and poor like that the first persons he and George McGovern would invite to a White House state dinner would be poor people who really needed the meal.

He delivered that message Tuesday, along with support for national health insurance and a continued denunciation of the Vietnam war, to Spanish-speaking patients at a special bilingual ward of the Los Angeles County-University of Southern California Hospital.

First Step to Drug Addiction?

Dear Helen:

A recent survey discloses that more heroin addicts started with alcohol than with marijuana, and a lot of them were heavy boozers before they switched to narcotics.

Does this mean that pot isn't the "first step" as our local police still insist? —READER

Dear Reader:

I think this simply means that for persons prone to bad habits, anything which eases or dulls reality is a "first step."

Neither booze nor pot lead to drug addiction (including alcoholism) unless the user is a "habit type": one who drifts into situations and lets them rule him. Thus, one person won't get hooked on liquor, cigarettes, drugs (even though he tries them often) while another becomes their slave.

How and that so many don't know which type they are until it's too late. —H.

Dear Helen:

As a father of the bride-to-be, may I ask a question? If both the young man and his fiancée want a big wedding, why can't both families share expenses?

In our case, the bridegroom's family is more set on a lot of whoop-la than we are, probably because they don't have to pay for it. So when is the "equal rights" thing going to liberate parents of girls from the traditional dowry (big wedding) payment for getting those no-longer-helpless creatures no-longer-needed male protectors?

My daughter will work to put her new husband through college, thus relieving his parents of the burden. Shouldn't they at least spring for the champagne and reception hall—in gratitude? —BROKE-TO-BE (With two more daughters coming up!!)

Dear Broke:

Should they? It would be a nice gesture. Will they? Probably not. But you have a good point. With so many traditions breaking down, perhaps future parents-of-the-bride won't be stuck for the whole bill.

It's already happening in some areas where the groom's family provides champagne or shares reception expenses. Keep the faith, B.T.B., it may yet happen to you. —H.

Dear Helen:

You've heard the expression, "She doesn't have much upstairs, but man, what a staircase!"

That's the kind of girl our son prefers: dumb broads! This last one he brought home doesn't know the difference between Margaret and Martha Mitchell.

The daughter of a close friend is intelligent, industrious, kind, sweet, and quite pretty, but she doesn't flaunt it. She'd be a perfect wife but our son is barely polite to her. She ignores him too.

We're afraid he'll up and marry one of those empty-headed sexpots as he is 27 already. How do you get two people who are right for each other together? Both of us mothers would like to know. —NOT PUSHY BUT HOPEFUL Dear NPBH:

Both of you mothers should butt out. When two people are "right" for each other they usually discover it without "family management." —H. Mrs. Bottel:

"K. and M." said homosexuality is "just another life style," neither sick nor sinful, and you did not put them in their place. Evidently you don't read the Bible which specifically states that this depravity is a sin.

These people do not deserve acceptance or your modern tolerance any more than do unmarried live-togethers or "other women." Immorality is wrong! —REPENT Dear Repent (And Others Who Write Similar Letters):

What's that about casting the first stone? —H.

When your partner has made a game-forcing bid, your jump to game shows that the only thing extra you have to show is a good trump holding. You are making a slam try but warning your partner that he cannot expect anything extra from you in the high card department.

North's hand is just about ideal for this jump to game and it also makes things mighty easy for South to go to the grand slam.

South knew that there might be some little play to the grand slam contract when he bid it and when dummy hit the table he gave the hand considerable study before starting on his plan of campaign.

It was obvious that he had 13 easy tricks against a 2-2 trump break and that he would have to find the best play if trumps failed to behave nicely.

Therefore, after winning the club he played his ace of spades and continued with a spade to dummy's king. East showed out and South had to play on carefully.

It appeared that he would not be able to handle a 5-1 diamond break so he decided to play out dummy's ace and king of diamonds and hope for the best.

When both opponents followed it was all over but the shouting. He ruffed a third diamond high; led a trump to dummy's jack; ruffed a fourth diamond with his last trump; cashed the top hearts to discard a club from dummy. Took the ace of clubs; ruffed his other club and made the last trick with the jack of diamonds.

Ellen Turner is feted with parties

Mrs. Gary Neaville of Little Rock, the former Ellen Turner, was entertained at a brunch Friday morning, August 11, at the home of Mrs. B.B. McPherson, who was assisted by Mrs. R.L. Broach, Mrs. Martha Brashier, and Mrs. Autrey Foster.

Mrs. Neaville and her mother Mrs. McDowell Turner received kitchen gadget corsages. The hostesses presented her with a collection of additional kitchen gadgets.

The twenty guests, including her mother-in-law Mrs. E.B. Neaville Jr. of North Little Rock, wrote their favorite recipes.

Melon balls, miniature cinnamon rolls and biscuits, tiny sausages and coffee were served by the hostesses. The serving table held an arrangement of bronze Mexican sunflowers in a green crystal vase.

Mrs. Neaville was the honoree at a reception in the Douglas Building on the night of July 25.

She wore a fleur d'amour corsage on her floor length floral voile dress. Mrs. McDowell Turner and Mrs. E.B. Neaville Jr. wore white daisy corsages.

Mrs. Joseph H. Purvis, her sister, presided at the guest-book where more than one hundred guests registered.

The serving table was covered with net over yellow taffeta and held an arrangement of white and yellow daisies in a silver epergne. Dainty cookies, nuts, and fruit punch were served.

The hostesses presented Mrs. Neaville with a crystal and silver gift. The included Mrs.

Charles Batson, Mrs. Calvin Caldwell, Mrs. Guy Grigg, Mrs. Henry Haynes, Mrs. J.V. Moore Jr., Miss Mary Roy Moses, Mrs. Perry Moses, Mrs. A.L. Park, Mrs. H.A. Spraggins, and Mrs. Mary Walker.

Bridge Club meets Monday

The Diamond was the setting for the Hope Duplicate Bridge Club meeting Monday, August 14. Of the 4 tables of players Mrs. Marie C. Hendrix and Mrs. E.P. Young, Jr. were the highest scoring couple.

Mike Kelly and Dr. George Wright were in second place, and Mrs. Taylor Stuart and Mrs. R.D. Moore tied with Mrs. George Wright and Rudy Fick for third place.

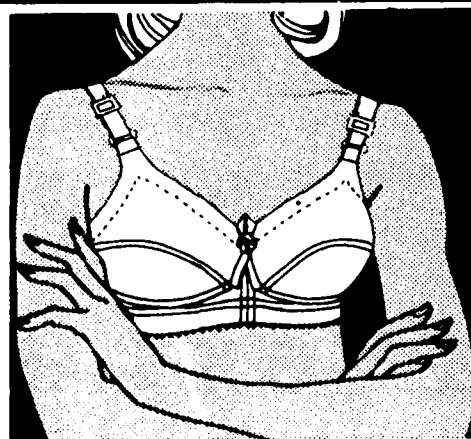

WSCS Circle meets Monday

Mrs. Robert Parham led the program at the meeting of Circle 5, WSCS, Monday night, August 14 in the home of the circle chairman, Mrs. Calvin Smith. The speaker told a story which illustrated the secret of victorious living.

The Circle Chairman opened the meeting with a business session that encompassed several matters such as raising money for the new church. After the program, the group of ten formed a Friendship Circle and repeated the Circle Benediction. A dessert plate with coffee or cold drinks were served.

More blacks withdraw from Olympics

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — Three more black African nations—Liberia, Ghana and Ethiopia—have joined Tanzania, Sierra Leone and Zambia in withdrawing from the Olympics because of plans to allow Rhodesian athletes to compete in the Games, which begin Aug. 26.

And there are reports that the number of boycotting nations would increase. Cairo, Egypt, Sudan and Nigeria are expected to join the list, and possibly Uganda and Guyana. Despite the announced withdrawals on Tuesday, a spokesman for the Olympic Organizing Committee said no official word had been received in Munich.

Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee, said, "This is politics, pure politics. We are not concerned with politics. All sportsmen will be here."

"We made an agreement a year ago with all the National Olympic Committees concerned. Rhodesia was invited. Rhodesia will participate. We think for the moment that the question is settled."

A 44-member Rhodesian team arrived in Munich last week. It included seven black athletes and a black trainer.

Steelers enter season with new kind of confidence

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Despite a 39-year legacy of dashed hopes and faded optimism, the Pittsburgh Steelers enter this season with a new kind of confidence.

The division title that has eluded them throughout their pro football history is within reach—if they can shake their image as the "Same Old Steelers."

"It's been said 'This is the year' so many times before that it doesn't mean anything. So don't even quote me on it," said quarterback Terry Brad-

Red Sox defeat Rangers, have fun with reporters

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Boston Red Sox pulled the curtain down on the Texas Rangers but it was nothing like the act they played in the dressing room afterwards.

After beating the Rangers 3-0 on John Curtis' three-hitter Tuesday night:

Tommy Harper helped play a joke on reporters. Reggie Smith, who hit two home runs, wouldn't talk to anybody. And Manager Eddie Kasko was extremely short of patience.

The Red Sox, who've reportedly had internal problems of late with players sparring verbally, appeared to level some of their frustrations at visitors after Tuesday night's game in Arlington, Tex.

Harper sat on Smith's stool while a Texas broadcaster mistakenly congratulated him on his two-homer night. The rest of the Red Sox laughed at the broadcaster's blunder.

Then, when Smith finally appeared at his locker, he refused to answer questions. Staring blankly while he was questioned, the Red Sox outfielder soon strolled away to shave.

Kasko, when later facing the same reporters, kept his comments short and sweet.

Said one writer: "He was surly. It seemed like he wished that we'd just go away as soon as possible."

Things were relatively tame around the rest of baseball's American League as the Minnesota Twins nipped the Detroit Tigers 7-6 in 13 innings; the Cleveland Indians beat the California Angels 4-3 in 10 innings; the Kansas City Royals turned back the New York Yankees 7-6 and the Chicago White Sox trimmed the Milwaukee Brewers 2-1.

National league results: Cincinnati 3, Philadelphia 0; Montreal 3, Houston 2 in 10 innings; New York 5, Atlanta 0; San Diego 7, St. Louis 1; Los Angeles 8, Pittsburgh 6 and San Francisco 7, Chicago 5.

The fourth-place Red Sox moved within four games of the front-running Baltimore Orioles in the tight American league East race. The Orioles were idle Tuesday night.

Jim Nettles and Rod Carew each singled in a run as Minnesota rallied to beat Detroit in the 13th inning. The burst broke a 5-5 tie and offset a run in the Tigers' half of the frame on Gates Brown's homer.

The second-place Tigers dropped 1½ games behind the Orioles and maintained a half-game lead on the Yankees, who are in third place.

Lou Piniella's run-scoring single capped a three-run rally in the bottom of the ninth that pulled Kansas City past New York. Steve Hovley's two-run single tied the score before Piniella came through.

The rally wiped out a 6-4 Yankee advantage taken in the top of the ninth on Bobby Murcer's two-run triple.

Landry says don't count Cowboys out of Super Bowl yet

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Don't count the Dallas Cowboys out of the Super Bowl just because they've lost starting quarterback Roger Staubach with a shoulder separation and traded powerful running back Duane Thomas to San Diego. That's what Coach Tom Landry says.

"Most people will write us off," Landry said Tuesday.

The Cowboy coach was quick to point out, however, that Craig Morton, the first-string quarterback before yielding the job to Staubach last season, was capable of directing the club, and running back Calvin Hill, National Football League offensive Rookie of the Year in 1969, was regaining his old form after being slowed by a knee injury last season.

Meanwhile, backup coach Dan Reeves was reactivated to back up Morton, and Staubach was optimistic while recuperating in Baylor Hospital in Dallas.

"I'll be okay," said Staubach, who underwent surgery Sunday after being injured Saturday night in an exhibition game against Los Angeles.

"I'll come back stronger than ever."

Elsewhere, in the NFL, Miami wide receiver Karl Noonan, who also suffered a shoulder separation last Saturday in an exhibition against Green Bay, underwent surgery Tuesday. He will be sidelined 6-12 weeks.

The Dolphins lost defensive end Bob Heinz for at least two months with fractured vertebra. He also was hurt in the Green Bay game.

The Dolphins also announced they had traded defensive tackle Frank Cornish to Buffalo for a draft choice and the negotiating rights to center-tackle Howard Kindig if Kindig decides to come out of retirement.

Gullett hurls shutout

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

"That was about as close as he can get to himself without being there," Cincinnati catcher Johnny Bench said of battery-mate Don Gullett.

How's that again?

"I can't really tell if I'm back to myself just yet," Gullett added.

A little clarification, please. Well, Gullett, who posted a 16-6 record last season, had been expected to be a major factor in the Reds' drive to the top of the National League's West Division this year.

But the 21-year-old left-hander contracted hepatitis in January—a condition the Reds didn't even discover until May—and had been virtually useless to the baseball club this season. For two innings he'd be able to blaze in his fast ball, then he'd get so weak he could barely wind up to pitch.

But on Tuesday night, outfielder Pete Rose said, "He looked like he used to." And Bench added: "His ball really jumped at times and when he reared back and wanted to throw it, he could do it."

Gullett got the call after just one inning in Philadelphia when Cincinnati starter Wayne Simpson was forced out of the game after reinjuring a calf muscle.

The 6-foot Kentuckian came out of the bullpen and, for the next eight innings, hurled four-hit shutout ball, striking out eight and walking just one to provide the Reds with a 3-0 victory over the Phillies.

Elsewhere in the National League, Los Angeles defeated Pittsburgh 8-6, the New York Mets blanked Atlanta 5-0, San Francisco beat the Chicago

Cubs 7-5, San Diego slugged St. Louis 7-1 and Montreal edged Houston 3-2 in 10 innings.

In the American League, the Chicago White Sox nipped Milwaukee 2-1, Kansas City slipped past the New York Yankees 7-6, Boston blanked Texas 3-0, Cleveland topped California 4-3 in 10 innings and Minnesota tripped Detroit 7-6 in 13. Baltimore and Oakland were idle.

Tony Perez singled home the only run the Reds needed in the first inning and they scored two more in the fifth on Bobby Tolman's RBI single and loser Wayne Twitchell's wild pickoff throw attempt that allowed Joe Morgan to scamper home from third.

The Dodgers, edging within two games of the second-place Astros in the West, used Willie Davis' two-run homer in the sixth inning, his third round-tripper in two games, to turn back the Pirates.

Texas Aggies open schedule Sept. 9

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Texas A&M Coach Emory Bellard went down the Aggies' non-conference schedule and came to LSU and Nebraska where he paused.

"Well, there comes a time when you've got to jump into deep water and that will be it for us," said the new Aggie coach.

Bellard said "That will be a good time to see what our situation is ... what our problems and strengths are. It could be a real strong point if we do a good job. You need to have good things happen to you."

The Aggies open their schedule Sept. 9 in Wichita against Missouri Valley Conference lightweight Wichita State and then travel to Lincoln the next week to play the national champion Cornhuskers and battle highly ranked LSU in Baton Rouge the following Saturday.

Bellard said A&M has a chance to be an excellent team "If we can keep everybody upright. We've got to avoid injuries."

Of course, the success of each team starts at quarterback where Lex James, a seasoned but star-crossed senior, was operating the Wishbone-T expertly in the spring before being felled by a hamstring injury.

Don Dean, a sophomore, developed strongly and was running ahead of squadman Tim Trimmier going into fall training.

In the backfield, Bellard switched 212-pound Brad Dusek from safety to fullback. Dusek showed tremendous explosion from the position in the spring and more than excelled at blocking.

Dusek teamed with 216-pound Mark Green, who scored seven touchdowns as a sophomore, and 206-pound John Bounds to give the Aggies a bruising backfield.

"We have some power runners, but no blazing outside speed," Bellard said after spring training.

However, the Aggies recruited some freshmen with afterburners such as Earnest (Bubba) Bean and Carl Roaches.

"If they can learn quickly they could help us," Bellard said.

Blues outthit Captains

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Memphis walloped four homers Tuesday night to easily manhandle Shreveport in the only Texas League action of the evening.

The Blues just outthit the Captains 9-8, but the long clouds left Memphis with an 11-1 triumph.

The game was a makeup of an earlier game called due to bad weather. Other TL teams took a day off after Monday's game between the league's all-stars and the Texas Rangers, won 4-3 by the major leaguers.

Brian Ostrosser opened the Memphis homer barrage with a solo shot in the first, followed by Paul Womble's bases-empty blast in the third, Jeff Anderson's three-run homer in the sixth and a two-run job in the eighth by Jim Brunette.

Meanwhile, Craig Swan scattered eight hits and took part in his teammates' slugging with a two-run double of his own.

Memphis' victory put them 4½ games behind the East-leading Alexandria Aces. El Paso has a six-game bulge over Amarillo in the West.

Tonight's schedule has Arkansas at Alexandria, Memphis at Shreveport, El Paso at Midland and Amarillo at San Antonio.

Baseball Tips

Playing the Outfield

Don't become an outfielder unless you are sure that your eyesight tests 20-20 or that it does with glasses (shatter-proof). Outfielders must be able to see the ball clearly as the bat makes contact. It's that extra second which allows an outfielder to judge accurately whether to race in for the ball, stay where he is or get on his bicycle and head for the fences.

How does a major leaguer make such accurate judgments as to where the ball is being hit? By practice. By playing in game after game.

Catching the ball is an individual technique. Don't try to imitate the Willie Mays basket catch. Use both hands, up and extended. Also, don't take your eyes off the ball. A ball dropped in the outfield is a lost out.

Whose ball is it? The center fielder has the right of way if it's a choice among the outfielders. Any outfielder has the call over an infielder. If you decide it's your ball, say so loud and clear and early.

On throws in, if there's a man on base and the ball you catch isn't the last out, throw to the base ahead of the runner. Like infielders, outfielders must know ahead of time where they're going to throw on any kind of ball hit to them.

HOPE (ARK.) STAR

5,000-meter run is potentially great

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — Jim Ryun's third crack at a gold medal may be overshadowed this year by a race most consider potentially the greatest at the 20th Olympiad—the 5,000-meter run.

America has two fine entrants in Steve Prefontaine and George Young, the latter competing in his fourth Olympics, a record for an American distance runner. But the two, along with Leonard Hilton, face as many as 10 others who could break the Olympic record of 13 minutes 39.6 seconds.

In fact, the predictions are that it'll take at least 13:40 just to make the finals.

Meanwhile, Ryun appears a solid choice in the 1,500-meter run, the metric mile. In 1964, the teen-aged Ryun failed to make the finals. In 1968, at high-altitude Mexico City, he lost the gold to Kip Keino of Kenya and finished second.

Keino is back this year, reportedly planning to triple in the 1,500, the 5,000 and the steeplechase.

Ryun, 25, has not approached his world record 3:33.1 in years and even in winning the U.S. trials at Eugene, Ore., did only 3:41.5. But his form was good, his feet flashed as of old and experts said Ryun had returned.

His top competition could come from Francesco Aresè of Italy or a host of Englishmen. Bob Wheeler and Jerome Howe round out the American contingent with both having recorded sub-3:40 times this year.

The 5,000, however, is the race of the Games.

Prefontaine set the American record of 13:22.8 in winning the trials at Eugene with Young second in 13:29.4. Both times pale in light of Dave Bedford's 13:17.2, second best ever recorded and only six tenths off the world mark set by Ron Clarke in 1966.

Bedford, the brittle-tough Englishman, had not planned to run the 5,000 this year until he blazed the fast time at London.

Finland's one-two punch of Lasse Viren and Juha Vaatainen, with life bests of 13:18 and 13:32.6, England's Ian McCafferty and Ian Stewart and Russia's Rashid Sharaf-yetdinov, as well as five East European runners make the race even tougher to predict.

One man who could win it all, however, is Ethiopia's Mirus Ifter, a virtual unknown last year who showed explosive power in the Pan-Africa Games at Durban, N.C.

The 10,000 is also talent-laden, with Bedford heading the list. His 27:52.8 earlier this year is the fourth best time in history, the same time in which Vaatainen won the European title in 1971.

Finland's Viren blazed 27:32.4 for No. 3 on the all-time list earlier this year and should be the favorite but the tactics of the race may be too much.

America's Frank Shorter has a shot if the former Yale and Florida Track Club star sets a hot pace and stays in front. Shorter doesn't have the late speed of the Europeans. In fact, Shorter's lifetime best of 28:12 was set earlier this year at the AAU championships as he ran second to late-kicking Greg Fredericks of Penn State.

Mike Manley is the top U.S. entrant in the 3,000-meter steeplechase and he has the best chance of winning the event of any American since Horace Ashenfelter did 20 years ago.

The 30-year-old Oregon school teacher is a true veteran of the event with a lifetime best of 8:27.6, second best ever by an American.

Unfortunately, more than a dozen men have run faster than that this year already, including world record holder Kerry O'Brien of Australia, whose mark of 8:22.0 could fall.

Bronislaw Malinowski of Poland has already done 8:22.2 this year with Anders Garderud of Sweden and Kazmierz Maranda of Poland recording fast times of 8:23.6 Bulgaria's Mikhail Zhelev has run 8:25.4.

Keino's 8:30.0 in his first attempt at the steeplechase shows he could surprise this good field.

The classic marathon, all 26 miles of it, is probably the least predictable race because of the hundreds of entrants, the lack of standardization in courses around the world and the few competitions held prior to the games.

Still, Shorter and Ken Moore, America's top two entrants, are real veterans of long, long distance running and could give the favorites—Ron Hill of England, Lutz Phillip of West Germany, Dave McKenzie of New Zealand and Derek Clayton of Australia—a run for the gold.

Four years ago at Mexico City, the 7,439-foot altitude hurt most distance runners except the high-altitude-trained Africans. In fact, four years ago a Kenyan won the 1,500, a Tunisian followed by two Kenyans finished 1-2-3 in the 5,000, a Kenyan, an Ethiopian and a Tunisian ran 1-2-3 in the 10,000, two Kenyans ran 1-2 in the steeplechase and an Ethiopian won the marathon.

Similar happenings are not likely this time around.

Bertelson surprised to be with Rams

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — The Los Angeles Rams are surprised they got to draft running back Jim Bertelsen. So is Bertelsen.

"I really expected to be drafted by Dallas or Houston," said the former University of Texas star. "But I'm glad that Los Angeles got me, because this is the place to play."

The Rams, who had traded away their first-round draft choice, got an extra pick when they traded Deacon Jones to San Diego. They used it to grab Bertelsen.

"We feel most fortunate that Bertelsen was still available on the second round," said coach Tommy Prothro, the former UCLA mentor who remembers the Texas speedster from a game between the Bruins and Longhorns two years ago.

Bertelsen was the Rams' offensive standout against Dallas last week, scoring the only Los Angeles touchdown on a bruising five-yard end sweep and gaining 51 yards in seven carries to lead all rushers, despite a broken little finger suffered in the College All-Star game. He picked up 18 yards on a typical piece of Prothro trickery, a run from the blocking back spot in punt formation.

The stocky 22-year-old, standing 5 feet 11 and weighing 200 pounds, gained 2,510 yards in three years at Texas and averaged six yards a carry. A good blocker as well, he figures to make the Rams, but there's plenty of competition.

Only five running backs are expected to get onto the roster from a group that includes veterans Willie Ellison, Larry Smith, Les Josephson and Travis Williams, second-year man Bob Thomas, another good rookie—Larry McCutcheon of Colorado State, and Bertelsen.

The size and speed of National Football League defenders are forcing him to do some adjusting, Bertelsen said.

"A hole may open up and you see daylight a moment and then it's suddenly closed," he said. "I don't have the size to overpower people. I look at myself as a cutter who runs to the hole."

Twins win over Tigers

DETROIT (AP) — Jim Nettles and Rod Carew each singled in a run as the Minnesota Twins scored twice in the top of the 13th inning to beat the Detroit Tigers 7-6 Tuesday night.

The loss dropped the Tigers 1½ games behind the first-place Baltimore Orioles in the torrid American League East baseball race. The Orioles were idle Tuesday night.

Catcher Ed Borgmann led off the rally with a single and moved to second on a walk to Dave LaRoche. Nettles broke a 5-5 tie with an RBI single and Carew then gave the Twins another run with a base hit, scoring LaRoche.

The rally was enough to withstand a run by Detroit in the last half of the inning on Gates Brown's homer.

Detroit, trailing 4-0 at one point, took a 5-4 lead in the seventh, but Minnesota tied it in the ninth on singles by Steve Braun, Harmon Killebrew and Reese.

The Twins had scored four times in the fourth. Mickey Stanley hit a three-run homer, his 15th, in the sixth for the Tigers.

Campsite for protestors to open at Miami Beach

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Miami Beach officials say a campsite for nondelegates at the Republican National Convention will open Thursday and weary protestors evicted from Flamingo Park for the third time early today can soon unfold their tents.

Shortly after midnight about 100 riot-equipped Dade County sheriff's deputies and Miami Beach police went into Flamingo Park and threatened the protestors with arrest for creating a disorderly assembly if they didn't vacate the park.

The demonstrators then began taunting the police through a megaphone, chanting "Power to the People" and "Can we stay in the park?" Failing to get a response from the officers, the frustrated would-be campers sang "God Bless America" and "The Star-Spangled Banner" until one demonstrator took the megaphone and yelled:

"This is a confrontation between the free generation and the state generation. We are living in an authoritarian society. Is this a free country or not?"

He had barely finished speaking when two Miami Beach paddy wagons pulled up behind the protestors. Another order to clear out was issued as sheriff's deputies began a sweep through the park.

At that point, the demonstrators left. Many strolled seven blocks north to the Miami Beach Community Church lawn where they flopped on the grass for some sleep.

Officers said no arrests were made.

The Miami Beach City Council Monday approved the use of Flamingo Park as a campsite for nondelegates.

CFL television coverage is terminated

TORONTO (AP) — The Ottawa-Toronto game tonight in the Canadian Football League will be the last CFL game televised to the United States this season, Jake Gaudaur, CFL commissioner, said Tuesday.

The final 12 games which had been scheduled for television viewing in the United States will not be seen. The game between the Ottawa Rough Riders and the Toronto Argonauts is the eighth of the series.

In some U.S. cities, the games are seen on a delayed basis.

The CFL will receive the full $100,000 it was paid by Ralmar Sports Productions, Inc., for the 1972 season, Gaudaur said. He said the firm, headed by former major league baseball player Ralph Kiner and television producer Marty Rosenblatt, both of New York, is exercising its option to buy the 1973 rights for $150,000.

In a statement, Gaudaur said the early termination of the 1972 series was primarily due to a lack of national advertising.

Canadian football: Small players, cold weather

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — The players are smaller, the field larger and the weather colder in the Canadian Football League.

So says Arkansas State University Coach Bill Davidson, who spent several weeks this summer coaching for the Edmonton Eskimos.

"The difference between the Canadian League and the National Football League is the size thing," Davidson said. "John LaGrone of SMU and Greg Pipes of Baylor are both playing for Edmonton. Both are outstanding football players, but because of their size they were passed over. Both are about 5-foot-10, and that's probably stretching LaGrone."

There are 12 players on each team. The extra player is used in the backfield.

"You don't even notice there are 12 people on each team because of the larger field," Davidson said. "The hardest thing to get used to is that you can send all those backs in motion at the same time toward the line."

In the CFL, a team has three downs to make 10 yards and a first down and there is no such thing as a fair catch or a dead ball on a punt or field goal attempt.

"Say the score is tied, it's the last play of the game and you are on the other team's 30-yard line," he said. "You don't have to attempt that field goal. All you've got to do is line up and punt the ball out of the stadium and you get a point."

If a team is trapped in the end zone while attempting to run back a punt or a field goal attempt, it is one point for the kicking team.

"The kicking game makes up about one-third of the offense," he said. The end zone is 25 yards deep instead of 10 yards as in the United States, making it even more difficult for a team to run the ball out of the end zone.

Davidson said one rule in the CFL which he favored concerned plays near the goal line.

"The referee never spots the ball closer than the one-yard line," he said. "If I run the ball to the two-inch line one time, they bring the ball back to the one. This eliminates coaches griping about getting a bad spot."

There is little difference in the techniques employed in the CFL and NFL, says Davidson, since many of the coaches in Canada are Americans.

Coaching at Edmonton was "like being at a seminar," Davidson said.

"This is an experimental time for these people," he said. "They are getting ready to play ball games. They played four exhibition games and two regular season games while I was there."

"In two of the exhibition games, the temperatures were in the 50s and 60s," he said. "We dressed like it was late November here and we always wore rain gear to the field."

Davidson was responsible for the offensive line at Edmonton.

"All had formerly been defensive players so they didn't have that old pro attitude of 'I've been here six or seven years and you can't teach me anything,'" he said. "They were so eager to learn offensive technique."

Davidson said the American football players are called "imports" and that a Canadian team can only have 15 American players on its 32-man roster.

"What happens is that they cut 10 players who might be better than the last 10 they keep, but they've got to cut them to make their quota," he said.

Davidson managed to slip off once to play golf at Jasper, Canada—a course which he says is the most picturesque he's ever seen.

"It's a national park, like Yellowstone," he said. "Every tee faces a different snow-capped mountain. We came to this one hole and there was tin wrapped around the trees near the green."

"The tin extended eight or 10 feet up the tree and we couldn't figure out what it was for so we asked," he said. "We were told it kept the bears from climbing up the trees. Seems big bears liked to watch the golfer putt, but they bothered some of the players."

Air action heavy as jets raid VN

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. planes made their deepest and heaviest strikes in North Vietnam in a week Tuesday, renewed their attack on the northwest rail line to China and shot down one of three MIG21s that tried to intercept them, the U.S. Command announced today.

It was the 150th MIG reported down by U.S. crews in the war and the 48th this year.

The U.S. Command said Air Force, Navy and Marine fighter-bombers flew more than 290 strikes against targets in North Vietnam. U.S. pilots had been averaging less than 200 a day in the north since Aug. 8 because of heavy clouds, but the weather improved Tuesday.

Air Force F4 Phantom pilots made several direct hits with laser bombs on the 75-foot Phu Tho railroad bridge 45 miles northwest of Hanoi, the Air Force said. The bridge had been attacked before but had been repaired.

Other planes attacked the Viet Tri thermal power plant 30 miles northwest of Hanoi.

Capt. Fred W. Sheffield, 29, of Akron, Ohio, and Capt. Mark A. Massen, 25, of Downey, Calif., flying an Air Force Phantom jet, were credited with downing the MIG21 about 25 miles northwest of Hanoi. They hit it with a missile.

North Vietnam claimed that five U.S. jets were shot down during daylight raids Tuesday and two more during midnight strikes. The only losses announced by the U.S. Command were an F4 Phantom shot down Sunday in the northern half of the demilitarized zone and a helicopter gunship downed Tuesday below the DMZ, south of Quang Tri City.

The two phantom crewmen are listed as missing. One American aboard the AH1 Cobra gunship was reported killed and one wounded.

The U.S. Command also reported that 175 Americans have now been listed as missing in aircraft losses in the 4½ months since the Communists launched their offensive in South Vietnam, and nearly half of the missing men have been lost over North Vietnam.

Another 72 Americans have been killed and 55 have been wounded in aircraft crashes during this period, the Command said.

According to the U.S. Command's records, 126 planes and 68 helicopters have been lost in the war since March 30, when the North Vietnamese offensive started.

The Command said 76 of the planes have been lost over North Vietnam, and 82 of their crewmen are missing. North Vietnam has announced the names of 21 who have been captured.

In the ground war, the Saigon command said, 44 North Vietnamese were killed in fighting on the edges of Quang Tri and south of the city.

On South Vietnam's central coast, an ammunition dump blew up at the provincial headquarters compound in Cam Ranh City, and the headquarters building was destroyed, field reports said. But the building was empty, and no casualties were reported.

Officers said a fire of undetermined origin caused the explosion just after midnight. There have been a series of sapper and shelling attacks at Cam Ranh in the past week.

In Cambodia, gunners shelled the northwestern outskirts of Phnom Penh early today. At least 30 rocket and recoilless rifle shells hit the airport, a nearby village and a radio transmitter. All six members of a refugee family were killed in their sleep, and a military hangar and a parking lot at the airport were damaged.

Johnson supports McGovern

FREDERICKSBURG, Tex. (AP)—Former President Lyndon B. Johnson, in an unusual personal political statement, said today he will support Sen. George McGovern, and all Democratic nominees in November.

The statement by the former president was delivered first to the two weekly newspapers in Fredericksburg, the Fredericksburg Standard and the Fredericksburg Radio-Post. Fredericksburg is 16 miles west of the LBJ Ranch where John now spends his retirement.

"I believe the Democratic Party best serves the needs of the people. Therefore I intend to support the 1972 Democratic ticket," said Johnson's statement.

"I shall vote for George McGovern and Sargent Shriver for president and vice president of the United States.

"I shall vote for Dolph Briscoe and Baretfoot Sanders for governor of Texas and for United States senator and all the nominees of the Democratic party."

Operation on Wallace set today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chief surgeon who will operate on George C. Wallace today says the aim is to attempt to reduce a potentially dangerous abscess caused by a "dirty bullet" that spread bacteria through the body of the Alabama governor.

The surgeon, Dr. George A. Hallenbeck, said in a telephone interview that there is no reason for believing that Wallace might be suffering from a spreading infection.

But, he added, the fist-sized "sleeping abscess" in the right side of the governor's abdominal cavity might cause fever, infection or other trouble later. That, Hallenbeck said, is the reason for today's 50-minute operation.

The operation will be carried out at the University of Alabama hospital in Birmingham, where Wallace has been undergoing rehabilitation for effects of gunshot wounds suffered May 15. The wounds, inflicted in Laurel, Md., while Wallace was campaigning for the Democratic presidential nomination, left him paralyzed from his hips down.

Today's surgery on Wallace is the second such operation in about a month, both of them for the same type of apparently dormant abscess. The first one was successfully drained July 19.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The future of a system in Arkansas in which all state-supported colleges and universities are merged in a question mark.

Three previously independent colleges already have come under the wing of the University of Arkansas, home-based at Fayetteville, with a single board of trustees. Four other colleges and one university continue to operate independently, with their own boards.

The future of these five schools may depend upon a recommendation that the state Board of Higher Education is expected to make to the state legislature in about three months.

An Associated Press poll of the 10 board members shows two favoring some form of a university system with at least two more leaning that way. Four others said they were uncommitted, while two said they favored more central coordination immediately.

Board chairman Howard Holthoff of Gould said he was leaning toward a university system in Arkansas, but he said a dual system centered around the UofA and Arkansas State University at Jonesboro might be more politically feasible than a single system under the UofA.

"There's a lot of competition between ASU and the UofA," the UofA graduate noted. "We're going to have to have two university systems to get around it politically."

Holthoff termed the past mergers with the UofA "beneficial."

The UofA umbrella was first opened in 1969 with the merger of Little Rock University. In 1971, the umbrella expanded to include A&M College at Monticello, and on July 1, a reluctant AM&N College at Pine Bluff also became a branch of UofA.

Another board member, Dr. Joe F. Rushton of Magnolia, said he favors a statewide university system under the UofA because "it is the only logical thing to do."

"I think if all the schools were under one system it would be alright," Rushton said, adding that he opposes the formation of a dual university system.

"I don't believe in doing it piecemeal," he said. "I don't think that would work satisfactorily. There would be too much competition between them (the two systems)."

Rushton said he would favor an advisory board for each college.

The Ouachita Baptist University graduate contended financial benefits would accrue from a single system because it would eliminate duplication of courses and resources.

Rushton also graduated from the UofA Medical School and Tulane University.

Another supporter of a statewide system was the board's only black member, Mrs. Corliss M. Howard, a graduate of AM&N College and Syracuse University.

Mrs. Howard, who also attended the UofA and the University of Oklahoma, said she favors a system where the state's colleges and universities would be merged under a governing board independent of any one campus. Under this proposal, there would be no main campus.

Mrs. Howard said such a system should be formed only after the state has spent another 10 to 15 years improving the individual institutions.

Among the benefits she said would be produced by a statewide system were a liberalized exchange of staff, better use of resources and possibly a reduction in student fees.

Mrs. Howard said she first opposed the merger of AM&N with the U of A because she feared the merger eventually would mean "a loss of identity for the poor" and a displacement of blacks as the college's top administrators. She said both factors still threaten the college.

Asked if she saw any plausibility in discussing a dual system, Mrs. Howard replied, "None at all—not in Arkansas." She reasoned that Arkansas is too small to support two systems.

Board member Marlin Jackson of Paragould disagreed, saying it was "very definitely...plausible" to discuss a dual system.

"The high quality of education (at ASU) makes me think it is very feasible," Jackson said, adding he has attended both ASU and UofA.

However, Jackson said he has not been impressed with the university systems he has observed in other states.

"Presumably, the same quality of education exists at the satellite campuses as at the main campus. That is a figment of pure imagination," he insisted.

"The library facilities on satellite campuses are hopelessly inadequate compared to those at the main campuses," he continued.

Jackson added "There is a lot to be said for the proposition of decentralization."

"I have a Thomas Jefferson theory," he remarked. "The least interference by the government bureaucracy, the better off we are."

Board member Charles H. Murphy Jr. of El Dorado first said he was undecided on the matter, but later said he was "more and more of the view that we ought to go all the way and put the whole thing under one board."

Murphy, who holds an honorary degree from the UofA, said his feelings were based on what he termed "an appalling waste (of money) which arises from overlapping and duplication."

Discussing local autonomy and institutional identity, Murphy said these were "important advantages" of decentralization that "should not be surrendered lightly."

DIES IN CRASH

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Police said that Ronald E. Merriott, 19, of Hot Springs was killed Tuesday in a head-on two-car collision here.

The injured were identified as David M. Mills, 19, and his brother, Paul J. Mills, 15, both of Hot Springs and passengers in the Merriott car; Mrs. Jane E. Nance, 33, of Hot Springs, driver of the other car.

Police said the accident occurred on a curve.

Pipeline critics plan to appeal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Critics of the proposed trans-Alaska oil pipeline are preparing to appeal a court decision lifting a two-year-old ban on its construction.

U.S. Dist. Court Judge George L. Hart Jr. Tuesday raised the injunction he had imposed in April 1970, on grounds that the Interior Department has now met legal requirements for permitting construction to begin.

After two days of legal arguments, Hart rejected pleas for further delay.

Three environmental groups, the Wilderness Society, Environmental Defense Fund, and Friends of the Earth, won the injunction 28 months ago by convincing Hart the Interior Department could not permit construction of the pipeline without first studying its environmental impact.

They returned Monday to argue that the impact study published last March was still inadequate and that Interior Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton's intention, announced last May, to issue the necessary permits would violate legal land-use restrictions.

Hart, in a brief opinion Tuesday, concluded that Interior's environmental statement "reasonably meets all requirements of the National Environmental Policy Act" and that the proposed permits "are authorized by law."

The environment groups said they would appeal immediately. Alaska Gov. William Egan said in Juneau that state attorneys are discussing ways of getting the case before the Supreme Court.

preme Court.

One route under discussion, said Deputy State Atty. Gen. Norman Gorsuch, is attempting to bypass the circuit court and appealing directly to the Supreme Court on grounds a matter of great national interest is involved.

Hart told newsmen he believes the case will eventually be heard by the Supreme Court because it is probably "the most important environmental case before the courts."

In his formal opinion, Hart stated: "It is deemed imperative that the appellate process be initiated as soon as possible.

"In view of this situation, and the tremendous costs involved, this court will not delay this matter by detailed findings of fact that are undisputed, nor by an exhaustive legal opinion which would require weeks and months to complete."

Mrs. Agnew to stick with her low-key campaign style

WASHINGTON (AP) — Even though Eleanor McGovern has offered to debate Pat Nixon, and Eunice Shriver has spoken out against abortion, Judy Agnew says she doesn't intend to change her own low-keyed campaigning style.

"I do not speak out on the issues," said the wife of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew in a pre-convention interview. "I'm here to back up my husband. After all, my husband is the one running for office, and he's very knowledgeable."

She said she has no campaign schedule yet and has spent most of the summer sitting for a portrait for an official collection of Maryland's first ladies, and doing exercises to keep in shape.

Mrs. Agnew, who seems to avoid publicity as much as the vice president attracts it, said she will campaign with Cabinet wives but only when she is not campaigning with her husband. She will greet audiences and answer questions but make no speeches.

Mrs. Agnew, 51, said that judging from her husband's mail one of his accomplishments has been "saying what the people want to hear" and traveling to 50 states with President Nixon's message about the administration's programs.

As for her own main accomplishment, she believes it has been entertaining wives of foreign dignitaries and "enhancing the image of the United States in their eyes by being a gracious hostess."

"At least I hope I have been a gracious wife of a vice president," she added.

She has particularly enjoyed her work as head of the Senate wives' group, which meets every Tuesday to make materials for the Red Cross. Her own personal goal is to turn out 50 gauze squares each week.

Despite her husband's criticism of the news media, Mrs. Agnew says she has no complaints about the press except when stories about her children get personal.

The two older daughters—Mrs. Robert DeHaven, 29, a Baltimore social worker, and Susan, 24, a coordinator of volunteers at a Cambridge, Md., hospital—have missed much of this attention.

Randy Agnew, 25, made headlines when syndicated columnist Jack Anderson reported he was separated from his wife, living with a male hairdresser in Maryland and working in a health spa. Kim, now 16, came to public attention when she wanted to wear a black armband to support a war moratorium.

These reports, Mrs. Agnew said, "got exaggerated out of proportion."

Airborne voyeurs buzz nudist camp

HONOLULU (AP) — Members of a nudist colony on Oahu's idyllic north shore are taking with aplomb a unique problem: airborne voyeurs.

When a plane or helicopter dips low for a close look, "I usually stand out in the open and jump up and down and wave at them to give them something to look at," says the colony's buxom, 29-year-old caretaker, who will identify herself only as Pat.

Military spokesmen have ordered their pilots to avoid the 240-acre site of the newly opened Hawaii Nudist Club colony, with its 80 multi-colored tents. But other low fly-overs continue.

Unlike other nudist camps located in wooded areas, the Hawaii camp is in an open beach area. There are no trees to prevent aircraft from dipping low or to block an aerial view. It's also located next to a landing strip for small airplanes.

Before the area was made off-limits to military pilots, helicopters flew so low "they knocked our tents over with the wash of their rotor blades," says the operator of the colony, who prefers to be known only as Larry.

Once, he said, soldiers on maneuvers nearby plucked a few pineapples and landed in the colony area to try to give them away.

A complaint from the nudist camp led to orders for military pilots to avoid the area.

Most of the colony's 275 members are under 30, but a few elderly persons are included.

STAR EDITOR'S 73RD BIRTHDAY—A watermelon party was arranged Saturday, Aug. 12, on the steps of the School Administrative Building by a group of Star carriers honoring Alex. H. Washburn, president and editor of the newspaper, on his 73rd birthday.

Still another board member, B.J. Lambert of Crossett, would not say if he favors a university system. However, if the colleges and universities continue to cooperate with the state Board of Higher Education, he said he saw no need for more centralization.

Lambert also said he saw no reason to discuss the university system issue until a proposal comes before the state legislature or the Legislative Council.

When told that a proposal by state Rep. Jerry Bookout of Jonesboro calling for a study on the university system matter with emphasis on a dual system had been referred to the Education Committee of the Legislative Council, Lambert laughed and said, "That's funny coming from Jonesboro, isn't it? They don't want anyone to mess with their school, do they?"

The proposal calls for an investigation into the merits of a single system, a dual system and a statewide administrative board in comparison to Arkansas' present system.

A seventh board member, Fred MacDonald of Brinkley, said he favored more centralized educational control, but he said he had not reached a "firm decision" on whether a university system was the proper form of centralization.

A graduate of Arkansas College at Batesville and George Washington University at Washington, D.C., MacDonald said he did not think Arkansas could support two systems.

Board member Harry Ponder Sr. of Walnut Ridge, who also graduated from Arkansas College and later the U of A law school, said he favored "some form of overall control of the higher educational institutions in the state" to provide more efficient use of state funds.

Board member Henry B. Shreve of Batesville said he had not formed an opinion on the issue. However, he said he thought a more expanded system was inevitable for Arkansas because of limited state funds.

Shreve also noted that a dual system might be better than a single system because of the cultural differences throughout the state.

Men seeking scapel in quest for beauty

By JURATE KAZICKAS
Associated Press Writer

In the eternal quest for beauty and youth, increasing numbers of men are seeking help from the surgeon's scapel.

Face lifts, nose alterations, hair transplants and other types of plastic surgery for men have doubled in the last five years.

"While it's still more common to see women asking for cosmetic surgery, men now comprise about 15 to 20 percent of our patients," says Dr. Eugene Courtiss, secretary of the American Society for Aesthetic Plastic Surgery.

Surgeons in New York, Miami, and Los Angeles attribute this increase to the continued emphasis on youth and youthful appearance, the competition among men for jobs—and for women—and the growing acceptance of plastic surgery as a cosmetic aid.

"Any man who wants to look better and younger, who cares about self-improvement and can afford the luxury, is considering plastic surgery as he never would have a few years ago," says Dr. John Williams, a plastic surgeon from Century City, Calif.

What Phyllis Diller did for women thinking about a face lift, Sen. William Proxmire no doubt accomplished for men worrying about their baldness. When Proxmire showed up in the Senate one day with a turban of bandages, he candidly admitted he was beginning hair transplants. Bobby Hull, the hockey player, is another prominent figure who brought the subject of hair transplants out in the open.

A study made by a team of psychiatrists and plastic surgeons at Johns Hopkins University in 1960 indicated that men asking for cosmetic surgery showed more psychopathology and emotional problems than did women seeking similar operations. But several plastic surgeons feel the situation is different today.

"A few years ago, only effeminate men thought to have very narcissistic needs came in for face lifts. Most of our male patients were artists and models. But now, normal, business executive types are asking for the operation," says Dr. Dicran Goulian, director of plastic surgery at New York Hospital.

Nevertheless, plastic surgeons are careful to determine what motivates a man for such surgery. An operation is often refused if the man has unrealistic expectations of surgical results. A face lift, they caution, cannot save a marriage, or get a promotion, or assure romantic success with young women.

"The man cannot be too dependent on the postoperative self," says Dr. Thomas Baker of Miami. "A face lift is not like some magic wand that will make a man step back in time and be 25 instead of 50."

Surgeons say a face lift is more complicated for men than for women. It works best on men with longer hair to hide the scars.

The operation can last about two hours and costs about $5,000. Prices for all types of cosmetic surgery are generally lower on the West Coast. Depending on the man's age, a good face lift can last about 7 to 10 years.

The most common operation men ask for today is the removal of baggy eyelids and crow's feet. This costs about $750.

Body contour operations which are complicated and often leave extensive scars are relatively rare for men.

Hair transplants are gaining in popularity but are only successful on men with an adequate supply of their own hair—at least in the back. Small plugs of about 15 growing hairs from the man's head are implanted in the bald areas. To cover a two-inch receding hairline might take six treatments of one hour each and would cost from $1,500 to $2,500. Final results are obtained only after about 18 months when the hair is fully grown out.

Some plastic surgeons are skeptical about the results. "A hair transplant looks exactly like what it is...like potted plants on a veranda," says Williams. "It's difficult to recreate the natural hairline. I think a man is much better off wearing a hairpiece."

Bill, who asked that his real name not be used, is 44, father of four, and an office manager. All his life he had been self-conscious about the bags under his eyes.

A year ago, he had them removed surgically.

"I guess I don't look that much different," he says now. "It hasn't changed me or made me more handsome. But it did remove a feature that I was very unhappy with and that's all that mattered."

AGAINST AMTRAK

Editor The Star: An Open Letter to Governor Bumpers. The Governor would have AMTRAK offer passenger service through Arkansas. Would he ride it?

For my part, I object to paying taxes to support a dead-loss enterprise.

I have been a railroad fan all the years I can remember. The passenger train was the way to travel. I loved it. But the railroads could not attract enough passengers to pay even a small fraction of out-of-pocket costs, so they applied for discontinuance of one run after another, and were granted their requests too slow and too late. Their financial straits are in part due to being forced to continue running empty passenger trains too many and too long. If AMTRAK takes up the work, we, the taxpayers, will finance more empty passenger trains.

I'd like to see the return of the passenger train; I'd like to ride it on some of my trips. But I see AMTRAK as a huge boondoggle—like where it refuses to receive or discharge passengers at a stop where train crews are changed. As for Hope, Arkansas, we do not even have a platform at our "passenger" station.

No, much as I'd like to occupy a lower berth and eat in an old-time diner, I'm afraid it is not to be. The automobile and airplane have put an end to all that luxury. Any attempt to revive the dead is just going to be another huge tax loss. Sincerely,

PAUL W. KLIPSCH

What Goes on Here?

A little game of pony jousting, updated version of the sport of knights of old which some Newhall, Calif., horsemen have taken up. The idea is to have at each other with well-padded poles until someone is unhorsed. Falls can be spectacular, but (usually) no lasting damage. Most participants are rodeo riders and movie stuntmen, which explains it.

Bank blast knocks hole in the roof

BRISTOW, Okla. (AP) — A mysterious blast, perhaps from an explosive thrown atop the building, knocked a hole in the roof of the American National Bank Tuesday night.

No one was hurt and no money was taken from the bank in this city, about 40 miles south-west of Tulsa.

Federal, state and local officers moved to the scene and threw up roadblocks in the area.

Two suspects were questioned. They were not identified and no charges had been filed.

There was fear the blast might have been a diversion effort to tie up officers while burglars raided another bank. However, nothing had occurred several hours later.

Creek County Sheriff Brice Coleman refused to say what kind of explosion was involved. However, he said there was an odor of powder and that the Federal Bureau of Investigation and Oklahoma Crime Bureau's bomb squad had been called in.

"Everything is still intact inside," he said. "The windows and doors were still locked when we got here. The bank officers have searched and report that they have found nothing missing.

Tracy Kelly, president of the bank, described damage to the roof of the bank as extensive.

Asked if the bank would be open Wednesday, he replied, "Yes—we'll be open a little more than usual."

Kelly said he did not know what caused the explosion, but speculated it was "obviously a bomb of dynamite or black powder, or something of that nature."

"Vaults of the bank, he said, "were not molested or damaged."

Coleman said the damage was on the northwest corner of the roof over the tellers' cages and about 20 feet from the vault. He indicated he did not think the building was damaged seriously.

Shortly after the explosion there was a report of a similar blast at the National Guard armory about two blocks away. Officers dispatched there found no sign of trouble, Coleman said.

Jews are urged not to succumb to racial backlash politics

HOUSTON (AP) — Jews must not succumb to racial backlash politics, Albert E. Arent, chairman of the National Jewish Community Relations Advisory Council, said Tuesday.

Addressing the executive committee of the Jewish War Veterans holding its 77th annual convention here, Arent said, "I see the role of Jewish leadership as that of trying to overcome backlash, of trying to give perspective, so that Jews, at least, will not buy quack remedies from people like George Wallace or Frank Rizzo (ex-police chief and now mayor of Philadelphia.)

Such leadership is needed "so that Jews will not vote down school bond issues, federal aid to education, family welfare and equal opportunity legislation and whatever may be necessary to lay a foundation for the long-range solution," Arent said.

99 Arkansas cities facing water shortage

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Division of Soil and Water Resources said Tuesday that 99 Arkansas cities were facing water shortages within the next five years.

The expected shortages were found when the division sent questionnaires to 414 Arkansas cities for use in preparing the Arkansas Water Plan, provided for under Act 217 of 1969.

Of 258 cities answering, 54 reported they expected shortages within two years, 45 in five years and 51 in 10 years.

John P. Saxton, the division's acting director, said projections based on population increases show that 77 others can anticipate a dwindling supply in 20 years.

One of the cities facing the shortage is North Little Rock.

Little Rock anticipates no shortage because it has its own water supply, a reserve source in Lake Maumelle and is planning on developing new water sources, Saxton said.

However, Little Rock will not be able to continue furnishing North Little Rock with all the water it needs.

Under consideration, Saxton said, is a plan to organize a water district including North Little Rock, Jacksonville, Cabot, Beebe, Vilonia, Rosebud, Conway and some rural communities in the Greer's Ferry area.

He said the district would make Greer's Ferry or the river below its regular water source.

Saxton said the division was offering technical assistance on developing alternate water sources. Act 217 also authorizes it to give financial assistance but the legislature has not appropriated funds. As a result, the state is losing federal matching funds available for water development projects, Saxton said, which are available on a 50-50 matching basis.

Rev. Gross is Lion speaker

The Hope Lions Club heard Rev. Bob Gross describe his work with migrant workers during the luncheon hour Monday.

Rev. Gross is a Southern Baptist Home Missionary who has recently moved to Hope after spending 10 years working with Spanish-speaking people in New Mexico.

The Migrant Farm-Labor Center, located on the west side of Hope on Highway 67 is one of the few such centers in the nation. A member of trailers provide sleeping quarters for groups of eight people per trailer. Toilet, bath, and laundry facilities are provided as well as places to cook and eat.

In years past first aid service was provided by federal financing as was the center itself. Different churches and individuals provided entertainment, soap, toothpaste, and many services but church services did not fit in with the concept of church and state separation.

The Hope Association of the Arkansas Southern Baptist Convention, and the Arkansas Convention acquired land directly across the highway from the Government Farm Migrant Center and put up a mission center. The migrant mission center is directed by Rev. Gross. The Mission Center has a chapel, game room and snack corner. Outside basketball goals have been erected and plans are for other outdoor sports.

The mission center is open everyday from 2 to 10 p.m. with the exception of Friday, and public worship services are held each Sunday night.

The speaker said that over 2,000,000 migrant workers fanned out over the nation each year and that about 50,000 came through Hope from their homes in south Texas.

The Mission Center has had about 1,500 visitors since it was opened.

Economy drives have threatened the Migrant Farm Workers Labor Center from time to time and the first aid station services were discontinued. Rev. Gross said that he had no connection with the Migrant Workers Center other than that his wife, a nurse, had volunteered with others including, Dr. Lowell Harris, to keep the first aid service going for the two centers.

Pete Stone was the guest of Lion Jack Gathright; John D. Samuels guest of Lion Willis, and young son John Drake, guest of Lion Douglas Drake.

Terrorist raid a prison in Argentina

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Leftist terrorists raided a prison in southern Argentina Tuesday night, killed two guards and seriously wounded a third, freed 25 guerrillas and then hijacked a jetliner that carried six of the escapees to Chile along with 96 passengers and crewmen.

Interior Minister Arturo Mor Roig said some 800 inmates seized control of the prison after the break and were holding an undetermined number of guards hostage. The jail was surrounded by police and soldiers, he reported, and negotiations were under way to get the prisoners to give up.

The Argentine airliner landed safely in Santiago, the Chilean capital, and the hijackers surrendered early today. Chilean officials said their Marxist president, Salvador Allende, told President Alejandro Lanusse of Argentina by telephone that international law would be respected. But radicals among Allende's supporters were expected to pressure him to grant the hijackers asylum.

Meanwhile, 19 other guerrillas and escapees, including six women, surrendered without a fight early today in the airport terminal at Trelew, where the hijacking took place.

They held eight airport employees hostage but gave up as soldiers with heavy weapons surrounded the building and threatened to open fire.

The break occurred at the Rawson penal colony, on the outskirts of a small coastal town of that name some 600 miles south of Buenos Aires.

Sources in Buenos Aires said the raid was carried out by guerrillas dressed in olive drab army uniforms and armed with machine guns, rifles and pistols.

The prison chaplain told newsmen by telephone that there was no shooting until the guerrillas and their selected escapees approached the main entrance and began firing at guards there.

In the confusion, other inmates seized control of the prison and took a number of officers and guards hostage.

The interior minister said all the escapees on the hijacked plane were leaders of the Trotskyite People's Revolutionary Army, or ERP. Among them was the group's principal leader, Mario Santucho.

The prison break was pulled about an hour before the Austral Air Line's plane was due to land at the Trelew on its way to Buenos Aires.

Illegal claims in Medicare hunted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., says the federal government may have paid $380 million in illegal Medicare claims, including charges for television sets and private nurses.

Aspin Tuesday cited a recent Government Accounting Office survey of nearly 14 hospitals in five states which he said showed "nearly $500,000 had been illegally charged to Medicare out of a total $20 million paid in Medicare claims."

"Federal funds have been used to pay for private-duty nurses, TV sets, and telephone service for Medicare patients—all illegal under federal law," he said in a statement.

"These overpayments are the fault of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and its contractors such as Blue Cross—not the hospitals themselves.

"If HEW and Blue Cross administer the whole Medicare program as indicated by the sample GAO report, then the federal government has been gyped out of approximately $380 million."

The reason for the overcharges, he added, is "pervasive mismanagement, administrative procedures and incomplete audits by HEW and private insurance companies such as Blue Cross."

Aspin urged HEW Secretary Elliot Richardson to "tighten up and simplify the regulations so that the proper benefits are paid to the needy and that hospitals are not inadvertently overcompensated for their services."

CARLISS ODOM

Carliss Odom is guest speaker at Kiwanis Club

Carliss Odom of Little Rock provided what is perhaps the outstanding program of the year as he spoke to the Kiwanis Club at their Tuesday meeting. Kiwanian Gordon Renshaw introduced the speaker.

In halting speech and with some minor difficulty Mr. Odom, a victim of Cerebral Palsy, related the story of his life.

By his own description he was five years old before walking a step and at 15 he was still having to crawl. His head was uncontrollable and enlarged. His hands were drawn, and he could not utter a word. He was sick most of the time and in addition to the palsy was stricken with epilepsy at the age of eight. School was out of the question, and the doctors told his family there was no hope for any recovery and that it would be better for all concerned were he to die.

From earliest childhood he had been taught to love God and to believe in Him. In his youth at a church meeting he felt the Holy Spirit dealing with him, and as ungainly as he was he stumbled and crawled down the aisle to give his heart to God. It was at this time that he prayed earnestly for the first time, saying that he was ready to be used in any way that God could use him. He asked that he might grow up to be physically able to live and witness for Christ or that his life might be taken to relieve his family of their burden.

Things began to happen. In a short time he was walking. His hands moved normally. His head became a normal size and fully under control; his speech improved tremendously.

At 12 he entered grammar school, followed by high school, and then college.

Odom recited instances of being used of the Lord to bring other men into a saving relationship with the Lord.

Though told by friends that no girl would want a man in his condition, he prayed that God would give him a loving wife. Within 90 days of that prayer he met and later married his wife of 18 years. They were advised to have no children. Prayers again were answered, and he and his wife have five normal girls.

He states that he has tithed his income since earning his first dollar, and that he now gives 25 per cent of his income to the work of the Lord and is surprised how far the remaining 75 per cent goes. "One cannot outgive God," said Mr. Odom.

McGovern doesn't like VN briefings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George McGovern says he doesn't think much of White House briefings on the Vietnam war and believes he gets better information from "the dispatches of good newspapermen."

McGovern has suggested that former Assistant Secretary of Defense Paul C. Warnke act as his substitute at a special White House briefing on national security and intelligence information.

Computer chess champion clutches crown

BOSTON (AP) — At speeds quicker than the eye can see, the third annual U.S. Computer Chess Championship flashed to a close with the perennial champion still on top.

Northwestern University's Control Data Corp. 6400 computer, undefeated in the three years of competition, overwhelmed Carnegie-Mellon University's Digital Equipment Corp. PDP-10 computer in the final game Tuesday night.

The event, part of the 25th annual conference of the Association for Computing Machinery, was played over three nights, with eight computers entered in the single-elimination tournament.

Each computer, backed up by 16 computer programmers, played one five-hour round each night.

Only one computer actually made it to the tournament, Columbia University's Data General Corp. Nova 800. The others were back home, linked to their programmers by telephone.

The computer tournament organizer, Prof. Monty Newborn of Columbia University, said that while any chess grandmaster can consistently defeat a computer now, "in possibly 15 years computers will be able to beat the likes of Bobby Fischer."

Newborn said computer chess is not all fun and games. "We use chess programs to study machine learning," he said.

"A computer can analyze possible chess outcomes six or seven moves in advance, but it doesn't plan a strategy it can use throughout the game. It only reacts to the other fellow's moves."

Fall hunting regulations are released

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interior Department made public today waterfowl hunting regulation frameworks for the fall which include a prohibition against hunting canvasback ducks, and also redhead ducks except in the Pacific Flyway.

Other regulations remain about the same as last year.

The department said the numbers of canvasbacks and redheads have declined steadily in recent seasons despite reduced hunting bags.

Secretary of the Interior Rogers C. B. Morton said neither species is in danger of extinction, but "they certainly are in trouble, and stern measure are needed to help rebuild their populations."

He said he agrees with recommendations of waterfowl experts that, "if we err, we should err on the side of sound conservation."

The department said hunters can anticipate a good year for other species. Special restrictions exist in some flyways for wood ducks, mallards and black ducks. Most species are expected to move in the flyways in about the same numbers as 1971.

Nathaniel P. Reed, assistant secretary for fish and wildlife and parks, expressed concern over a dry summer in the waterfowl habitats in Canada and said wildlife biologists are monitoring weather conditions closely.

"We are hoping for a winter with plenty of snowfall to help the habitat," he said.

With respect to the season on geese, the department said generally favorable situations exist for most goose populations, but the season is closed for Atlantic brant, which has experienced poor production because of cold late spring weather in the Arctic the past two years.

States select their hunting seasons within the framework regulations established by the Interior Department.

Planted bomb is discovered

BELFAST (AP) — Two Teen-age boys and two girls planted a bomb in the center of Belfast today but there was enough warning to avert casualties.

Army experts said the 100 pounds of gellignite was in a suitcase that was booby trapped to prevent it being opened.

It was planted in an electrical wholesaler's store. The store building was wrecked, and there was widespread damage in the area.

Troops in the Catholic Lower Falls Road district made three arrests when they uncovered a guerrilla arms cache containing an armalite rifle, a shotgun, a submachine gun and several thousand rounds of ammunition.

— West Virginia ranks 47th in the nation in income per capita — $2,600. Only Alabama, Arkansas and Mississippi rank below the Mountain State.

Thirty-five, thirty-six, thirty-seven...

counting freight cars is the best way to measure how much Arkansas is producing.

Much of what Arkansans produce moves to market by rail. The Railroads of Arkansas are one of the state's major links with buyers from coast to coast and from continent to continent.

Of course, the level of rail business in Arkansas is almost directly related to the productivity of the state—productivity which fortunately continues on an upward spiral each year. For instance, we carried 36,000,000 tons of freight for Arkansas last year. And we're expecting 1972 to be an even better year.

This partnership is good for both of us. Good for Arkansas because it shows a healthy, growing economy that has benefited by industrial growth and advanced agricultural techniques. Good for us because we're able to improve our operations in providing safe, reliable, low-cost transportation.

The Railroads of Arkansas are pulling for you.
